Turning your Kobo eReader on and off

Turning your Kobo eReader off or putting it to sleep both help your battery last longer.

Your eReader's power button is located on the back of the eReader.

When you put your eReader to sleep and then wake it up, you go directly back to the last screen you saw. This could be a page in a book, the Kobo Store, or your own list of items.

If you turn your eReader off, you'll go directly to your Home page when you turn it on again.

- To turn your eReader on: Press and hold the power button for a few seconds.
- To put your eReader to sleep or wake your eReader: Press the power button quickly.
- To turn your eReader off: Press and hold the power button until the 'Powered off' screen appears.

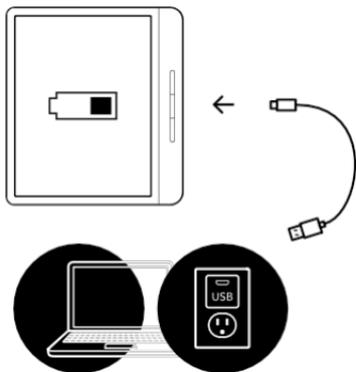

Charging your Kobo eReader

Before using your Kobo eReader for the first time, you should charge it for at least one hour. A fully charged Kobo eReader battery can last a few months depending on how frequently you use your eReader. Charge your Kobo eReader with the supplied Micro USB cable if possible.

If you need to replace your Micro USB cable, you can get a new one at any location where Micro USB cables are sold.

Follow these steps to charge your eReader.

1. Connect your Micro USB cable to your eReader.

2. Connect the other end of the Micro USB cable to your computer or USB wall adapter (not included).

To continue reading while your eReader charges, tap Cancel when you see the 'Computer detected' screen.

- From your Home screen, tap the  brightness icon at the top of the screen, then drag the  circle icon under Brightness to the left or right.

About the Natural Light feature

The Natural Light feature gradually changes the colour of the screen over the course of the day to make reading more comfortable.

During the day, the screen displays a small amount of blue light. As the day progresses, the light gradually changes to an orange candlelight, and contains less blue.

Blue light helps keep you alert during the day but can also keep you awake at night. The Natural Light feature limits the amount of blue light exposure at night and can help you fall asleep more easily. Limiting blue light from the eReader's screen also makes it more comfortable for your eyes when you read in low light or in the dark.

Using the Natural Light feature

With the Natural Light feature, you can adjust the colour of the screen. Colours range from an orange candlelight for nighttime reading, to a white sunlight for daytime.

1. Go to your Home screen.
2. Tap the  Brightness icon near the top of the screen.
The Natural Light settings menu will appear.

3. Beside Bedtime, tap the  dropdown arrow.
4. Select the time that you'd normally go to sleep.

 - To manually adjust your Natural Light settings, make sure the  circle icon beside Auto is towards the left . Drag the  circle icon towards the  sun icon to make the screen glow white for daytime reading. Drag the  circle icon towards the  moon icon to make the screen glow orange for night-time reading.
Note: When you manually adjust your Natural Light settings, your eReader will not automatically adjust the screen colour according to the time of day.

Using your Kobo eReader around water

For the best reading experience, your eReader's screen and your hands should be dry. If the screen gets wet, just wipe it with a dry cloth. The screen may not respond as expected if used while wet or under water.

If your eReader gets wet with any of the following, rinse it with fresh water immediately and dry it before use. This will extend the life of your eReader.

- Salt water
- Soapy water
- Chlorinated water from a swimming pool

Waterproofing your Kobo eReader

Your eReader can be submerged in 2 meters (6.5 ft) of fresh water for up to 1 hour if you follow these instructions.

Your eReader is IPX8-certified, which means that it has been tested and certified as waterproof in certain conditions.

Here are a few things you should do to avoid damaging your eReader with water. Note that your eReader is not dust-proof or sand-proof.

- Dry the USB port before connecting the USB charger to your eReader.
- Avoid exposing your eReader to water moving powerfully, like waterfalls or waves.
